Why We Buy Heartworm Preventative From Our Vets

One of the most important things we do for our dogs, cats, and ferrets in Florida are to provide a heartworm preventive. The heartworm (Dirofilaria immitis) is now recognized as a major global parasite infecting dogs, cats, ferrets, wolves, coyotes, and foxes. From its discovery in dogs more than a century ago and the documentation in cats in the 1920s, researchers have devised diagnostic tests, preventives, and treatments, but the disease still spreads.

Heartworm prevention is simple. It involves taking a blood sample to determine whether the parasite is present and then regular dosing with preventive medication. The American Veterinary Medical Association strongly suggests that annual heartworm testing be done, especially in heartworm endemic areas, as Florida is. Heartworm infection is dangerous; untreated dogs may die, and infected dogs may be too seriously infected to be treated. In addition, treatment can be expensive and not without the possibility of complications. Presently, there is no treatment available for infected cats or ferrets.

In other words, prevention is the name of the game. In this case prevention is simple. Before 1988 the only heartworm preventives that were available had to be administered on a daily basis. This was, frankly, a pain and there was non-compliance from the best of us. Now, with once a month dosing the task is easy. You put a little sticker on your calendar to jog your memory and it's done. You can write the date you intend to give each monthly dose on the packaging itself, so that you will become immediately aware if you have skipped a month. Not only does this save you a lot of money that you would have to spend on heartworm treatment but most importantly it saves your pet from an enormous amount of suffering. If you are really bad about remembering to do this, or are too busy to remember, a 6-month preventive injection is available for dogs from many veterinarians. Now up this point I am sure I have a consensus. The following are some facts that you may not be aware of.

1. Only the heartworm preventive that you buy from your vet is 100% guaranteed from the manufacturer. This means that if there is any product failure, they will pay for the treatment of your pet.
2. The only authorized vendors of these products are veterinarians. Unauthorized retailers have obtained many of these products from overseas sources. These products may have been subjected to extreme temperature changes during shipping that can dramatically impact the effectiveness of the products. Internet and catalog goods are second, third, or even fourth hand products. During the process of reselling they may have been stored in a shed or in the bed of a truck. There is no temperature control and there is no regulatory agency to inspect how these products have been handled. Veterinarian's products are shipped directly from the manufacturer under the proper conditions.
3. Internet companies are not getting their products from the manufacturer. The heartworm medication manufacturers maintain a strict policy of selling products exclusively through practicing licensed veterinarians. The issue here is that a professional veterinarian-client-patient relationship exists to help ensure that patients receive proper medical care.
4. Some of the medication being sold through catalogs or internet companies in the US was made for foreign markets; these foreign medicines are not approved by the FDA for sale in the United States. They may be materially different from the US products in a number of ways, including their purity, potency, and their instruction for use. These are not the same products.

The last issue is price. If you compare your veterinarian's price with the price of the medication plus shipping you will realize you are not saving that much money. In some cases catalogue sales end up being more expensive or the same price as that charged by your veterinarian.

As a pet owner the health of my pets is of utmost importance. I consider us lucky to be able to purchase these life-saving preventive medications. I also consider the importance of the veterinarian-client relationship.

RETURNED DRUG POLICY AND THE LAW

One of the most asked questions we get at the pharmacy is: "Can we return drugs?" The legal answer is sort of. You may accept a drug return and give the patient credit but you MAY NOT RETURN IT TO YOUR STOCK OR RE-DISPENSE IT TO ANOTHER PATIENT. The specific citation is F. S. 465.005, 64 b 16-28.118. The interesting thing is that you must really read through the citation carefully, it does not say that you cannot return prescription items to stock; it tells you when you can, everything else is prohibited. Two items of note, to return prescription drugs to stock, they must be in unit dose AND you must be dispensing in a system "in which the actual control of the unit dose medication is maintained by the facility rather than by the individual". This positive rule was made so that drugs dispensed to long-term care facilities could be returned for credit.

If you go into any pharmacy, you will see a sign that paraphrases this rule: "Florida State law prohibits the return of any prescription item". I would strongly advise you to put a similar sign up in your outer office. When asked I return the question: Would you like a drug that someone else has had? You really don't know what has happened to it.

Dr Skip Lenz

WHY IT'S SO IMPORTANT TO SPAY OR NEUTER YOUR PET

HEALTH BENEFITS

The risk of cancer and other diseases is greatly reduced in a pet that is spayed or neutered. Female dogs may develop mammary cancer. A female dog spayed before her first heat will have a near zero chance of developing mammary cancer. After the first heat, this incidence climbs to 7% and after the second heat the risk is 25 percent (one in four!). An unspayed female there is a chance of Pyometra. Pyometra is a life-threatening infection of the uterus that generally occurs in middle-aged to older female dogs in the six weeks following heat.

One of the most important concerns with male dogs one of the most important concerns is the prostate gland. Under the influence of testosterone will gradually enlarge over the course of the dog's life. In age, it is likely to become uncomfortable, possibly being large enough to interfere with defecation. The prostate under the influence of testosterone is also predisposed to infection, which is almost impossible to clear up without neutering. Neutering causes the prostate to shrink thus preventing both prostatitis as well as the uncomfortable benign hyperplasia (enlargement) that occurs with aging. Other health benefits of neutering include the prevention of certain types of hernias and tumors of the testicles and anus.

IMPROVE BEHAVIOR

The testosterone in your male dog makes him anxious and unsettled. Some veterinarians believe that intact dogs suffer from neuroses and this manifests itself by obsessive-compulsive disorders, such as excessive licking, staring into space or self-mutilization by scratching. Other traits that will improve is eliminating the urge for male dogs and cats to "mark" their territory, male dogs will not have the urge to "hump" other pets or people and housetraining is much easier and faster.

Playfulness, friendliness, and socialization with humans are not changed. The interest in roaming is eliminated in 90 percent of neutered dogs. Aggressive behavior against other male dogs is eliminated in 60 percent of neutered dogs.

The main reason to neuter a male cat is to reduce the incidence of objectionable behaviors that are normal in the feline world but unacceptable in the human world. Roaming, fighting and urine marking will be significantly reduced.

WANDERING

Instinct dictates that your pets go out and reproduce. When we spay or neuter our pets, we are removing this need to wander around the neighborhood searching for that special mate. Not wandering will also keep your pet at home and safe.

COST

No vet bills relating to the cost of health -related problems that afflict intact animals and puppies they might have. Rabies tags usually cost less for altered pets than unaltered pets.

SENSELESS SLAUGHTER

There are millions of puppies, dogs, kittens and cats that are killed every year due to irresponsible pet ownership. In her lifetime, one unsprayed female pet can be responsible for thousands of unwanted animals.

In five years, two dogs can reproduce 65,000 dogs!

ELIMINATE CLEAN-UPS

Spaying a dog or cat eliminates its heat cycle, which can last 21 days, twice a year in dogs; and anywhere from 3 -15 days, 3 or more times a year, in cats. Females in heat often cry incessantly, show nervous behavior, and attract unwanted male animals. Often there is an offensive odor. All of this disappears with spaying

HELP THE COMMUNITY

Communities spend millions of dollars to control and eliminate unwanted animals. This money comes from us -the taxpayer. Think of all the other great things our tax dollars could go for.

Why MicroChip?

Even the best pet owners go through this nightmare. The gardener leaves the back gate open. One of the kids forgot to close the back door. There was a bad storm that spooked your pet. Your pet was stolen out of the back yard. Well behaved pets are sold for research. Animals such as purebreds, birds and exotics are valuable and are stolen for resale. Recently, there was an article in Orlando Sentinel about people stealing mild mannered dogs like Golden Retrievers to use as bait to teach Pit Bulls how to fight. Sad, but true. Most shelters destroy the majority of pets they impound. They are destroyed only because they are not identified. There are many good healthy dogs that are euthanized because owners cannot be located.

A dog license is a great identifier (and the law and proves your dog had a rabies shot) but sometimes when a person goes to grab a stray dog they end up with a collar in their hands.

The microchip is a tiny computer chip, which has an identification number, programmed into it and is encapsulated within a biocompatible material. The whole device is small enough to fit inside a hypodermic needle and can be simply injected under the skin of our pets, where it will stay for the life of the animal. This provides a permanent, positive identification that cannot be lost, altered or intentionally removed - a safe, simple and inexpensive way to protect your pet against loss or theft.

Animals of any age can be injected with a microchip.

Injecting a Microchip is just like any other injection or vaccination. Anesthesia is not required or recommended since there is minimal discomfort with the procedure.

There is a universal scanner that can read all microchips. The new scanners were given to thousands of shelters throughout the country so that quick and easy identification of those dogs with microchips can be achieved.

With the new technology, dogs can be scanned when picked up by an animal control officer or brought to the shelter. If a chip is present, the scanner will read the number and the shelter staff member can call the appropriate registry for the identity of the owner.

So take the time to discuss this option with your veterinarian and give your pet the gift of safety.

Acknowledgements

There's lots of thanks to go around.

I need to thank you all for utilizing the resources in this book. A few years ago I had a vision and it has been growing. I believe we all do make a difference.

Next, I need to thank Skip. Without his encouragement, creating and funding this project would be impossible. From his generous spirit hundreds of animal have found forever homes and many happy humans have found wonderful pets.

To Adam, my son and computer guru, your patience with me is inspiring. The way you take my ideas and translate them into WebPages and everything else I ask you for is phenomenal.

To the wonderful rescue group BuddiesthruBullies who started this list on the internet and inspired me to put this paper copy together.

To my friend Annie Singer who sits at the other end of her computer and checks my grammar; Thank goodness your there,

To my fellow rescuers; we all may do things differently but because we have common goals we all do stand together. To the person that rescues one at a time to the huge shelters: please support each other and work together to find a solution. A special thank to Carol Johnson and Jan Lepore of Miami- you couldn't find better rescue partners. There are hundreds of goldens and other dogs that live wonderful lives because you both care so much.
